SEDA Board of Directors Installs New Officers

Installation of SEDA Board officers for FY 2010 was held October 13, 2009. New officers are:

Chairman Buster Smith
Vice Chair Dr. Joan Parris
Treasurer Frank Patterson

Chairman Buster Smith thanked outgoing Chairman Jack Johnson for his service to SEDA and presented him with a plaque and gavel.

Jack Johnson and Roy Rudolph will serve on the SEDA Executive Committee along with the officers.

SEDA Welcomes New Board Member Ronnie Garner

SEDA welcomes new Board Member Ronnie Garner, representing the City of Muscle Shoals for a three-year term. Mr. Garner is a lifelong resident of the Shoals and a graduate of the University of North Alabama. He has been employed at Jim Bishop Chevrolet for over 26 years.

SEDA President Forrest Wright Serves as Alabama Delegate to Japan

SEDA President Forrest Wright attended the 33rd Annual Joint Meeting of the Japan-U.S. Southeast Association & SEUS/Japan Association in Tokyo as an Alabama delegate.

Look for an upcoming "International" web page to be added to SEDA's Web site.

SEDA Board Members Tour Shoals Area Industrial Parks

A bus tour was arranged to offer SEDA Board members an opportunity to view what prospects would see as they toured local industrial parks. Transportation was provided by Northwest-Shoals Community College.

"Usually our staff has only a short amount of time to present the Shoals' assets when the prospects are in town," said SEDA President Forrest Wright. "With this in mind, we want to make sure we are presenting our best appearance of the area at all times."

The Board and SEDA staff were joined by Alabama Development Office Sr. Project Manager Dave Echols and North Alabama Industrial Development Association President Tate Godfrey.

FLEXCO Grant for Waverlee Building Expansion

Flexco, a subsidiary of Roppe Holding Company, has been awarded a State Industrial Development Grant for rehabilitation of the former Waverlee Homes manufacturing building.

Flexco recently relocated its warehouse / distribution operations to its new 18 acre site in Tuscumbia.

WISE Metals Group Adds Major Contract

A multi-year agreement to supply Anheuser-Busch InBev (A-BI) was completed with Wise Metals Group to begin in 2010. According to Chairman and CEO David D'Addario, "This agreement is a significant addition to the can sheet business at our Wise Alloys rolling mill in Muscle Shoals, Alabama and is a testament to the quality and reliability achievements of the entire Wise team."

After installing a new wide slitter, Wise is now capable of producing 14-out can sheets. "The completion of this significant capital project was key to being able to secure this additional business," according to D'Addario.

Total Maintenance Center (TMC) President Chip Flournoy expressed appreciation for his employees' role in assisting with this project: "I am very proud of our TMC teams and their significant role in the manufacturing of the new wide slitter used by Wise Metals."

Total Maintenance Center (TMC) Holds Open House

TMC held its customer appreciation open house on September 18, 2009. The open house showcased TMC's well-equipped, 250,000-square-foot facility and the extensive capabilities of their employees in machining, multicraft-electrical, turbine mechanics, certified welding, mobile crane operation, gas/diesel mechanics, and rigging/erecting. It also gave visitors the opportunity to see a number of current projects TMC is working on, including one very unique project: casting of new cylinders for the 1918 steam locomotive sponsored by Austin Steam Train Association of Austin, Texas. This work is being coordinated on site and engineered by Scott Lindsay, president, Steam Operations Corporation of Birmingham, Alabama.

Major General James Myles Gives BRAC Update In The Shoals

Major General James Myles, Commander of the US Army Aviation and Missile Life Cycle Management Command at Redstone Arsenal, spoke to a large crowd at the Marriott Shoals Conference Center and discussed the impact that BRAC is having on the Shoals and other Tennessee Valley communities.

Various military organizations and personnel are transitioning to Redstone Arsenal from Washington D.C., Northern Virginia, and other areas of the country. There are already 1,787 BRAC jobs in place, with a total of 4,651 direct jobs expected by 2011. Of the 1,787 direct jobs created thus far, 55% were filled by people from outside Redstone Arsenal.

Major Myles also reported that 890 employees of Redstone Arsenal commute from the Shoals area.

TVA Valley Investment Initiative for Existing Customers

The Tennessee Valley Authority and local power distributor providers launched a new existing industry program on October 1, 2009, to reward companies that make a long-term commitment to the economic development of the area. The Valley Investment Initiative for Existing Customers (VII-E) rewards customers that make traditional economic investments in quality jobs created or retained, wages paid, and investments in their facilities. The VII-E program will provide awards to qualifying customers that make a capital investment over a five-year period of 25% of its plant's book value. The award will be paid in installments over a five-year period as a monthly power bill credit.

Existing customers with qualifying NAICS codes and who have a minimum of 250 kW peak monthly electricity demand, have 25 employees, and are financially sound can apply. Award amounts are based on a customer's industry multiplier, in addition to the following:

- Capital investment over a five-year period as a percentage of facility book value
- Energy efficiency improvements
- Jobs added or retained and average wages paid
- Load factor and coincident load factor

For information on the VII-E program, please contact Craig Linhoss, TVA Economic Development, at cclinhoss@tva.com; or, contact your local power distributor. Additional information is available on TVA Economic Development's website at www.TVAed.com.
